Stories

"This training and the subsequent support provided by the Pathways team was a necessary step to expand the skills of our board of directors, strengthen the structure of the organization and ensure that we are heading in the right direction."

Margarita Ramirez, Executive Director of Centro Unido Latino Americano.

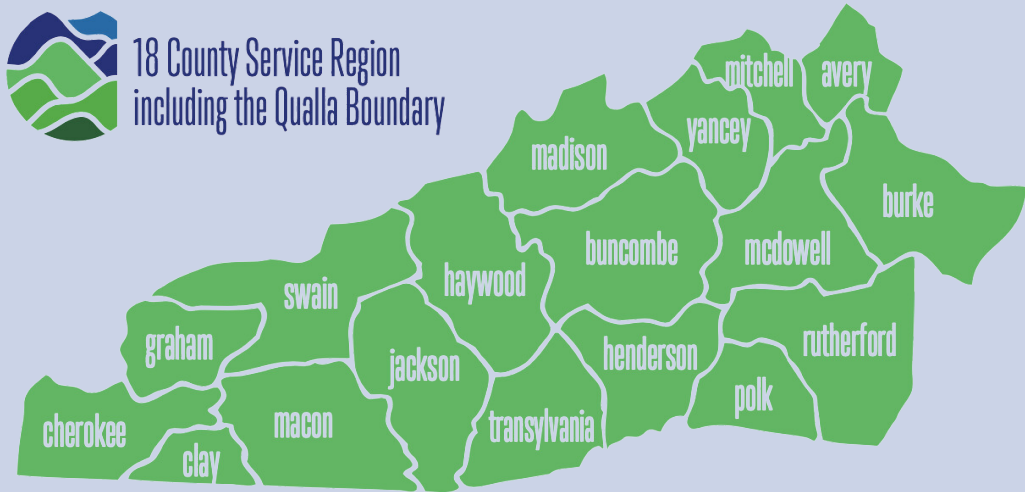

"Working with my peers through COC this year has been such a wonderful journey in many ways. I have learned as much as I hope I have been able to share. There has been a lot of progress and now more doors are opening for many of us, but we can open them wider. It's important for us to continue championing each other."

Stacey Millet, Consultants of Color

"Pathways' curated consultants are highly networked and especially helpful to rural communities. They have unlocked doors, elped us find our own way, and did not push us to become something we did not want to become."
